

Pianoseminar 2011

The 10th Piano and languages seminar, is being organized by and Colegio MIT, Malaga. For beginners this piano and languages seminar offers a unique opportunity for a quick and basic start into the music world as well to achieve some basic knowledge in harmony as well as in playing lots of easy piano pieces in an enjoyable way.

For advanced students this seminar will help develop and master the acquired skills, thanks to an intensive training in the harmony and composition workshop. Ken Ecury's method is divided into five levels. From the beginning the student will develop a good command of the musical language, the essential element in order to communicate musically. Playing easy piano pieces is integrated with sight reading.

The daily workshops for musical language, harmony and composition are taught in groups. Besides that each student will have an individual lesson on a daily basis the pianoseminar provides a good musical instrument to each student. In order to compensate the intensive piano hours the students can participate in the following activities: Aikido and Kendo in order to provide relaxation and concentration, new technologies applied to the music and a variety of sports, such as beach volleyball, football, horseback riding, basketball etc.

As for languages the seminar offers the possibility for an intensive one hour daily lesson in groups not exceeding 3 students. The first language is compulsory and a second one is optional. The following languages are being offered: English, French, German and Chinese. This seminar just like in former years, strive to provide an enjoyable social and cultural interaction in an excellent surrounding and atmosphere. At the end of the Seminar a concert will be held, all student's family are cordially invited to attend.
